

By Armistice Day 1918, more than

59,000

Australian service personnel had been killed, or died from wounds or disease