Snap Poll #2 – Connected Communities

Summary:

This snap poll asked West Australian’s for their views towards connection to community. We received over 200 responses telling us that most people felt somewhat connected to their community. Interestingly, 35% per cent of people indicated that “getting to know my neighbours” would make the most difference to feeling more connected. Many also felt that walkable neighbourhoods created through good urban design principles, particularly in relation to the extent of tree canopy would support community connection.
